

Speaker: Post Grad Opportunities

Write a comment

Highlight User ▾

11 Posts

After learning about the plentiful post-graduate opportunities offered at LVHN, I was most interested by the LVHN Research Scholars Program. Unlike many other college research programs, this opportunity is open to students in their freshman year, allowing them to gain early research experience that can be completed in time for graduate school applications without a gap year. Additionally, I... Show More

Like 😊 1 · Reply

Iqrah Mohammad Fri May 3, 2024 at 3:06 pm

One post grad opportunity I found interesting was the patient care partner because you are able to perform the same duties as a CNA and you're trained by LVHN instead of obtaining a certificate elsewhere.

Like 😊 1 · Reply

Aricka Creyer Fri May 3, 2024 at 4:47 pm

There are several entry level careers to get into healthcare these consist of a certified Nurse's Aide, medical assistance trainee, a mental health aide, a patient care partner, a patient observation assistant, a pharmacy technician, physical therapy aid, respiratory equipment aid, and a sterile processing technician.

Like 😊 1 · Reply

Luke Buonanno Sat May 4, 2024 at 1:25 pm

One interesting opportunity I found was senior management engineer. The job requires experience, but it has a focus on leadership and mentorship that I think would be interesting to play around with.

Like 😊 1 · Reply